The draft Hawai'i 2050 Sustainability Plan will be premiered at the Hawai'i 2050 Sustainability Summit

The draft Hawai'i 2050 Sustainability Plan emphasizes the triple bottom line of a sustainable economy, society and environment, symbolized by our summit theme of Nā Lei o Ka 'Āina, or "The Lei of the Land."

Hawai'i's beautiful lei are created from flowers and plants from our green fields and mountains; lei are an integral part of our special Island culture; and lei are marketed in our state and across the world as symbols of our Islands.

Hawai'i 2050 Sustainability Summit Program

In addition to the presentation of the draft Hawai'i 2050 Sustainability Plan, the summit will feature thought provoking speakers:

Keynote speaker Terry Tamminen, architect of many of California's groundbreaking sustainability policies and practices. He will talk about how the will of the community, businesses, environmental groups and government officials can move a society toward sustainability.

A sought-after sustainability expert, he is currently advising the Governors of several states, Canadian Premiers and European Union leaders.

The Honolulu Advertiser's Teen Editorial Board on what inspires our state's youth toward a more sustainable Hawai'i and the challenges they foresee to achieve that future.
